Mrs. M. Krusemark, Wife of Attorney, Died in Home Aug. 4

Friends were shocked last Thursday August 4, when they heard of the sudden death of Mrs. Mary Krusemark, of Frankfort. Her death was unexpected, as she had not been ill, but was under doctor's care for an eye trouble. Complaining of a headache, she rested on the davenport and in short time quietly passed away of a sudden heart attack.

Mrs. Krusemark, born July 30, 1879, in Green Garden township, the daughter of the late Henry and Mary Stellwagen, attained the age of 70 years. She was united in marriage to Albert H. Krusemark, Sr., a prominent lawyer of Joliet and of this area on February 12, 1914. They established their home in the house in Frankfort where they have since lived.

She was a worker for many years in the Woman's Guild of St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church and also taught a Sunday school class there for a long period of time, until failing eye sight caused her to give up that active work. She was a kind and congenial friend, a faithful wife and loving mother, and will be missed by all who knew her. She enjoyed her home and was assisted in her home work by a faithful sister. She never tired of answering telephone calls for her husband.

Surviving besides her husband are: a daughter, Mrs. Paul Gerhold of New York City, a son, Albert, Jr., also a lawyer in Joliet, a sister, Mrs. Christine Eichenberg, one brother, Henry Stellwagen of Joliet and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church, with the pastor Rev. Erich Elzer, and Rev. George S. Gerhold, of Champaign, a former pastor, officiating. Burial was made in Pleasant Hill cemetery at Frankfort.

A good chicken dinner was served in the dining hall and games were played on the church lawn. The affair was successful.

Born in Morrison, Illinois, she had lived in that vicinity for 45 years. She was a member of the First Methodist church of Lemont and of the Good Luck camp of Royal Neighbors and was ever ready to help in any activity for the benefit of the community.

She is survived by her husband, John two daughters, Mrs. John L. Homerding and Mrs. Eugene Grace; one son Raymond; one sister, Mrs. Cora Longnecker of Morrison, and seven grandchildren. One son, Wesley, preceded her in death.

Singing Holidays

Lesson for August 14, 1949

IF A CITIZEN of the U.S.A observed all the holidays that are officially counted as legal, somewhere in his wide country, he would have 43 days off every year. Holidays are a national habit in all countries. Not content with what the law gives us, we take our personal vacations besides. But how many holidays do we sing about? (One might even dare to ask, how many are worth singing about?) In the United States, there are known to this writer no New Year songs, none for Decoration day or Labor day, none for Armistice day, none for the various birthdays celebrated hither and yon. (Who ever heard of a song to commemorate Thomas Jefferson?) We may not even sing on our personal vacations, we are too busy working up a sun-tan. On the other hand, we could hardly think of Independence day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter without being reminded of the songs that go with them—The Star Spangled Banner or America the Beautiful for the Fourth of July, Now Thank We All Our God in November, and all the Christmas and Easter carols.

Dr. Foreman

God and Country
It looks as if some kinds of holidays produce songs and others don't. It appears to be a general rule: If the holiday is specially patriotic or religious, then people sing; otherwise they don't. God and country, in short, arouse emotion and enthusiasm which (for example) the memory even of a great man like Jefferson, or the planting of a tree, does not. This is generally true throughout the world. It was true in ancient Israel, for many of the Psalms are holiday hymns, festival songs. Some years ago a religious denomination issued a new hymn book. One minister roundly denounced the book because it had introduced a few patriotic hymns. "My Country, 'tis of Thee" has no place in public worship, he said.

If that man had been a closer student of the Psalms, he would not have made such a criticism. Most patriotic hymns are really prayers for one's native land; Psalms 105 and 106 are only two of a number of Psalms which are in the best sense of the word patriotic. If the reader will look through the Psalms for himself, noting all the references to God and to Israel, remembering that Israel was the name of the poet's country, he will be convinced that in those times as in these, love for God and love for country are singable.

Hallelujah
OUR word "Hallelujah" is Hebrew, and comes from the Psalms. It means "Praise ye the Lord!" Incidentally, it is a religious word, and should not be used, as it so often is, irreverently or lightly. Psalms 111-118 in our Bible were sung as a group, and called the Hallel, or the Praise. The Hallel was sung regularly at the three great holiday festivals: Passover (near our Easter time), Pentecost (in early summer, ancestor of our Whitsunday), and Tabernacles (in the fall).

When our Lord had his "Last Supper" he and his friends would sing these very Psalms. The "hymn" they sang before they went out was very probably the latter part of this group, 116-118, always sung at the end of the Passover meal.

The note of praise in these Psalms is very strong. They are not in a minor key.

Parodies
A SAD FACT today is that the un-Christian world, which does not understand religion at all, has taken over our religious holidays but leaves the religion out. The result is a parody, something without rhyme or reason. Take a look, next winter, at Christmas greeting cards for sale. You will find scotchy pups, all sorts of things, more easily than you will find true Christmas messages.

For people who are not Christians, Christmas is only Xmas, a time for exchanging useless presents, a time for shopkeepers to make money.

And as for Easter, there are cities where the big items are only the bunnies and the parade, neither of which has the slightest thing to do with the real Easter.

Loan Rate on 1949 Oats in Will County Set at 71 Cents

The Will County loan rate for 1949 oats, grading number 3 or better, has been set at 71 cents per bushel, according to an announcement issued by Conrad Borms, Chairman of the local AAA committee.

"Farmers may take advantage of this price protection by either executing a loan or entering into a purchase agreement. Both programs will be available through January 31, 1950 and apply to both farm-stored and warehouse-stored oats. The maturity date is April 30, 1950, or earlier on demand," Borms said.

He pointed out that most farmers are somewhat familiar with the handling of the loans through past experience with them. The loan is actually made and the farmer pays interest on the money extended at the rate of three per cent, plus 1% service fee. The producer may either pay off the loan on or before the maturity date, or he may elect to deliver or turn over the oats to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The purchase agreement, on the other hand, offers price protection without the necessity of actually executing a loan, Borms explained. The producer merely completes a certificate at the AAA office stating the maximum amount of oats he wishes to have covered by the program. He is free to use and sell all or any part of the grain as he sees fit. The cost is one-half cent per bushel on the quantity specified or $1.50, whichever is larger.

However, the agreement stipulates that if the farmer has not disposed of his oats before the maturity date, he may, if he desires, deliver them (up to the maximum amount indicated on the certificate) to the Commodity Credit Corporation and receive a price corresponding to the loan delivery rate. It is required that delivery be made during the 30-day period following the maturity date, and that the producer give due and proper notice of his intention to deliver the grain under the program.

According to Borms, no storage allowance will accumulate under the oat program. In the case of warehouse storage, a deduction of eight cents per bushel will be made from the applicable loan rate unless evidence is submitted showing that all warehouse charges, except the in and out charges, have been prepaid through April 30, 1950.

"From this standpoint the oat program is more favorable to farm storage. It ties in slightly with the broader aspect of the entire grain storage problem and the increased emphasis now being placed upon the need for farmers to begin building up more adequate grain storage facilities," Borms said.

Full details may be obtained from any member of the County Committee or the Treasurer, Room 214, Farm Bureau Building, Joliet.

Polio Facts Given By Health Officer

Following is a reply to the usual inquiry received in regard to control of polio in a community:

1. The major factor, if not the only, in the spread of polio seems to be person to person contact.
2. The spread from person to person involves the normal, apparently healthy carrier, as well as clinical polio cases and their contacts.
3. The polio virus, of which there are possibly many strains, is widespread during the epidemic period.
4. The virus has been found in sewerage.
5. It has been found in water and foods.
6. It is possible for flies which have contact with infectious material to provide mechanical means of transmission. It is doubtful that this is an important source of disease.
7. Due to the widespread distribution of the virus, a high percentage of the population is exposed.
8. Only a very small percentage of those probably exposed give evidence of disease.

9. Of those showing clinical signs of disease, a small percentage have possible crippling conditions.

10. Of those possible crippling conditions, few fail to make a recovery under modern medical management.

The conclusion to be drawn from this information is that there is no practical, effective measure to prevent exposure to polio. Common sense procedures such as avoiding crowds, isolating sick persons, staying out of polluted water, and protecting food and drinking water from contamination will reduce the chances of exposure. Good general personal care, such as washing hands before eating, avoiding over exertion as much as possible, keeping a comfortable, even temperature in the surroundings, and having prompt medical care for any evidence of illness will provide safeguards against disease and provide proper care if it occurs. However, do not expect these measures to prevent polio.

The matter of sewage and garbage disposal, the control of flies and other insects, and general sanitation are emphasized in the public mind by the possibility or presence of polio. It is good general public health practice to properly meet these problems. Sanitary disposal of sewage and garbage prevent insect breeding, deny food and harborage to rats, and further prevent transfer of sewage to water and food. After or along with elimination of breeding places for insects, the use of insecticides will give additional control. Whether or not these measures prevent polio, they will prevent many other infections and make the community a more pleasant as well as a safer place in which to live. At the same time, there should be no sensational attempt to give false sense of security through superficial treatment, such as aerial spraying or fogging, while the basic problems are ignored.

Moreover, these methods result in misunderstanding, and often lead to greater panic and hysteria, especially when polio occurs, as it does, despite heroic effort to prevent it. Many communities have found that the public hysteria and frantic demands are worse than polio in epidemic proportion. The people must know that there is no known preventive measure other than these rules of personal behavior, good community housekeeping, and basic sanitation. These measures, it must be repeated, are not specific for the prevention of polio.

ICE IS THE ANSWER—When fish started dying in the tepid water of this artificial pond in Ludlow, Mass., ice was found to be the solution. Now the iceman cometh—every day—and drops off half a ton of his wares into the pond to cool the water and keep the fish alive. Youngsters using it as a swimming pool don't object, either.

Public assurance rests upon knowledge that fewer than one out of each 10,000 population have polio, except for epidemic years. Personal assurance rests upon the fact that hospital and medical care facilities are available to every person who has polio or who is suspected of having polio. Local chapters of the Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will provide for any hardship case.

COWS LIKE SHADE DURING HOT DAYS

A pole and sheet-metal shelter to provide shade for your dairy cows is an easy way to increase your milk checks during these hot summer months.

C. S. Rhode, Illinois College of Agriculture dairyman, says milk production drops off about 30 percent from May to early fall. One reason is lack of shade in pastures. He says dairymen are lucky if they have a pasture with plenty of shade for daytime grazing.

If you don't have trees for natural shade, you can put up a pole and sheet-metal shelter. It's easy to build, costs very little, and lasts a long time. It's merely four creosoted poles stuck into the ground, with a sloping sheet-metal roof. It's open on all four sides.

You can get plans for the pole and sheet-metal shelter from the College of Agriculture in Urbana. Just ask for plan number 249. Cows like to stay cool in summer too.

Farming Costs Double That of Of Years Ago

You need a lot more cash for farming now than 20 years ago—from 68 to 80 percent more, depending on how you figure it.

This announcement came today from F. J. Riess, farm management specialist in the Illinois College of Agriculture.

For 1926 to 1930 it took about 4,000 bushels of corn per farm in Illinois to cover all cash farm expenses, and corn averaged 75 cents a bushel. But for the five years 1943-47, it took about 7,200 bushels of corn to pay all cash costs of farming. And this corn was worth $1.28 a bushel. In terms of corn at the same price, cash expenses have therefore zoomed 80 percent since 1926.

If you figure the liveweight of hogs needed to cover all cash farm expenses you find and increase of 68 percent... from 33,000 pounds in 1926-30 to 55,000 pounds in 1943-47.

Riess says cash income has kept up with cash outgo for three reasons: Land that used to grow feed for horses now grows crops for market, agricultural production is larger, and farmer are receiving higher prices for their crops.

It's State Fair Time Again

Scenes like the one pictured above will soon be reenacted in Springfield, Ill., as hundreds of thousands of people visit the Illinois State Fair, to be held August 12 to 21, this year. This fair has become one of the great annual agricultural and industrial expositions of the country.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.—This is a day at the fair. Any of the ten days of August 12 to 21 at the 1949 Illinois State Fair might be portrayed in this scene.

This picture might be a part of any day's crowd because it shows many of the reasons why more than a million persons visited the Illinois State Fair in 1948, and will in all likelihood return to the 1949 fair.

In the background is the huge Illinois State Fair grandstand which will be packed every afternoon by lovers of speed. They'll spend Saturday, Aug. 13 and the following Monday through Friday watching America's fastest trotters and pacers challenge world records on the lightning fast mile track. On Saturday, Aug. 20, the grandstand crowd will thrill to the daring of the 100 mile AAA automobile race, while Sunday, the 21st, they will cheer on their favorite "hot shoe" motorcycle riders.

That grandstand in the background will also accommodate huge night throngs who will witness a series of the finest musical and vaudeville entertainment presented anywhere in the Midwest. The lineup for evening entertainment includes Horace Heidt's "Stars on Parade," a star-studded musical revue, Skitch Henderson's popular band and a Barbershop Quartet Festival.

Also pictured here is Machinery Field, another big reason why many a person wouldn't miss the 1949 Illinois State Fair. Here they will preview a host of innovations in the extensive lines of farm machinery shown by most of the nation's implement manufacturers. The state fair has provided, through its machinery exhibits, a short course in more productive farming ever since the first Illinois State Fair in 1853 when farmers marveled at a newly designed grain reaper that doubled as a cultivator.

Crowds like the one pictured above will also be on hand to witness the judging of the outstanding livestock, to note the achievements of the 4-H youth, to visit the attractions on the midway, or just to roam through the spacious fairgrounds, seeing the sights, hearing the sounds and smelling the smells that make up the Illinois State Fair.

Interprets Lottery Law Liberally

A publisher of a daily newspaper in Illinois sent the following copy of an advertisement to the Postoffice Department for their advice:

"Yes, you may be a lucky winner! $50 in merchandise daily for only four more days! Then everyone registered will take part in the BIG GRAND PRIZE DRAWING Saturday, April 30 at 7 p.m. Anyone may take part. Simply come to our store and register. It's as simple as that. It is not necessary to be present to win! Register now! Attend if possible!"

The Solicitor's comments on the above advertisement were: "The awarding of these prizes was, of course, dependent upon chance. However, if the sole requirement for eligibility to receive a prize was registration of one's name, and registration was in no way coupled with the making of purchases or payments on account, the plan would not appear to have been in conflict with Section 601, P. L. & R., 1940. In this connection, your attention is invited to a notice which appeared in the Postal Bulletin on February 13, 1947, copy herewith."

The notice enclosed with the letter read in part: "In order for a prize scheme to be held in violation of this section (Section 601 P. L. & R., 1940), it is necessary to show (in addition to the fact that the prizes are awarded by means of lot or chance) that the 'consideration' involves, for example, the payment of money for the purchase of merchandise, chance or admission, ticket, or as payment on an account, or requires an expenditure of substantial effort or time. On the other hand, if it is required merely that one's name be registered at a store in order to be eligible for the prize, consideration is not deemed to be present."

JOLIET ALL SET FOR COUNTY KID PARADE FRIDAY

Tomorrow (Friday, August 12th) will be a big day in Will county for kids. Nearly 1,000 children under 15 years of age from through out the county are expected in Joliet tomorrow for the First Annual Joliet Area Pet Show and Doll Parade sponsored by the Retail Merchants' Division of the Joliet Association of Commerce.

The parade takes off from the Central School yard shortly after noon tomorrow, winds through the loop, past a judges' stand in front of the Rialto theatre, and back to the Central School for awarding prizes.

Nearly 60 prizes totalling almost $400 in merchandise value will be awarded to winners in each of 17 sections set up for the parade.

All registrants for the parade also will compete for two grand prizes for the best two items in the parade. Various classifications were published in last week's paper.

In addition, each child entering the parade will receive a free gift from the retail merchants.

Entry blanks, like the one printed in this paper this week, were pouring into the offices of the Joliet Retail Merchants' Division early this week, and more are expected today, Mel Pohl, chairman of the parade committee, said.

Pohl urged children who have not yet registered for the parade to come anyway, and register at the school yard. No child will be excluded from the parade. The entry blank printed in this paper may be mailed into the Retail office now, and the child will be registered for the parade and eligible for the grand prize.

TRUSS-FRAME PLOWS

There are four mighty important reasons why a John Deere Truss-Frame Plow is your best buy.

1. John Deere Truss-Frame Plows are in a class by themselves for toughness... for shock-absorbing strength. Frame members and bottom standards are held in rigid alignment; shocks of hard work are absorbed by the whole frame.

2. There's plenty of clearance for fast, deep plowing... for excellent work in trashy field conditions. 3. Servicing is simple and economical. 4. Genuine John Deere bottoms add the important advantages of clean scouring, light draft and good pulverizing, making the John Deere your best plow investment. See us for complete details.
